VOL. XIV.—NO. 50. PORTLAND OREGON: FRIDAY APRIL 3, 1874. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, April 1.—The Free Medical College for Women to-night conferred the degree of M. D. upon fourteen lady graduates—eight from New York, and one each from New Jersey, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and Missouri.

The Rhode Island Election.

PROVIDENCE, April 1.—The State election resulted as follows: Henry Howard re-elected Governor by a vote of 12,229 to 1,610. Charles C. Vanzandt, Lieutenant Governor by 7,679 votes to 6,[illegible]. Joshua M. Anderson is re-elected Secretary of State, Willard Sayles, Attorney General, and Gen. Samuel Clark, General Treasurer. The new Assembly is largely Republican.

Strike on a Massachusetts Railroad.

BOSTON, April 1.—It is reported that all the [illegible] and trackmen on the Boston and Worcester division of the Boston and Albany Railroad struck to-day for an advance in pay, and that they were promptly discharged.

Fire.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 1.—A fire in Rosendale, a village near here, has destroyed most of the place. It is still raging.

WASHINGTON CITY.

[illegible] Jones, of Nevada, as a Debater.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senator Jones surprised the Senate yesterday by his speech against inflation, evincing debating ability which, if unselfishly devoted to honest public interests, will make him a reputation more enduring than riches. The prospect of extreme inflation is receding in the Senate. It is now doubtful whether they can carry their free banking bill on a final vote.

Good News for the Citizens of Vancouver, W. T.

Senator Thurman, of the Senate Committee on Private Claims, says the Committee will report adversely on the bill proposing to confirm to the St. James Catholic Mission the title to 640 acres of land covering the site of the town of Vancouver, W. T. The Committee assume the ground taken by Delegate McFadden in his protest, that the question is one for the courts, and not for Congress.

Evidence Against the Washington Board of Public Works.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—In the District investigation this morning witnesses were examined to show that the tax assessed against property in the eastern part of the city amounted to nearly the real value of the property. Contractor Strong testified that the moneys paid to District Attorney Cook were legitimate counsel fees. Todd, of Boston, testified to owning property in the eastern part of the city which was assessed to the value of $17,000, on which taxes, including special assessments, were $1,000.

A Chinaman was killed by a log rolling over him at the Metchosin Lime Kiln on Wednesday of last week.

A large number of miners bound for Stickeen arrived at Victoria from San Francisco by the Prince Alfred on her last trip.

A private letter received at Victoria announces the death at London of Henry Nathan, Sr., father of the ex member of the Commons for Victoria City.

The Victoria Standard thinks a land route to Cassiar through British territory is practicable, but it could not compete with the Stickeen route in the matter of freights.

A Mr. Annandale, of Burrard Inlet, has been missing for some time, and was supposed to be drowned, but an Indian has been caught who had Mr. A.'s gun in his possession, and it is now feared he was murdered.

Samuel Partridge, a native of England, aged about 45 years, was found lying dead in the yard in the rear of the Phœnix Assurance Office, Victoria. Deceased was formerly a steward on board H. M. S. ship Sparrowhawk. The coroner's jury found a verdict of death from natural causes.

The Colonist of last Tuesday says: "Mr. A. Dods arrived from Cowichan yesterday morning to report to the authorities the very alarming state of the relations between the whites and Indians. The natives are becoming every day bolder, and not satisfied with threats have begun to fence in the settlers' lands and to run fences across the roads. Much alarm exists in the settlement.

A gentleman who left Liverpool on the 20th of February states that a project had been started by a number of capitalists to charter a steam-yacht and come to the Pacific for the purpose of visiting British Columbia with a view to making investigations at the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway and other points. The party, if they start, will bring with them two or three eminent geologists.

The annual meeting of the Victoria Law Society was held last week. The number of members is 18, of whom 15 were present at the meeting. The following gentlemen were elected as Benchers: Messrs. Attorney General Walkem, J. F. McCreight, Q. C., A. R. Robertson, Q. C., M. W. Tyrwhitt Drake and A. E. B. Davie. Mr. McCreight was chosen Treasurer, and Mr. Robertson, Secretary. A system of reporting the decisions of the Supreme Court was agreed upon.

Rev. Mr. Somerville, formerly of Victoria, has written back a letter giving an account of a number of other Victorians now back in the old country. He states that Jas. Carswell is dead. He cut his hand severely and bled so freely that he never recovered. D. M. Lang is in Glasgow. Robert Brown, the explorer, is a lecturer in the Philosophical Institute. Lorimer is a house agent and factor, doing a good business. Mr. Somerville is in charge of the old University Church in Glasgow.

A late issue of the Press and Dakotaian says: Another family of six Russians was added to the population of Dakota recently. They came direct from their transatlantic home and report that from 800 to 1,000 families are preparing to follow them the coming spring and summer, and that Dakota is the destination of most of them. These are not of the Mennonite persuasion, but belong to the other branch of Russian immigrants that is now so freely flowing to this country.

Five years ago there was scarcely a settlement in the valleys of either the Big Sioux, Vermillion, or Dakota rivers. Now these are settled from fifty to one hundred and fifty miles, and along the entire distance regular mail routes are established and thriving towns are springing up with the prospect of a large increase of population during the season of 1874.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April [illegible].—The Police Commissioners this afternoon investigated the charges by B. F. Naphthaly against detective J. M. Lees, in connection with the San Francisco Chronicle case—the seizure of the Sun material and the imprisonment of its printers. After full examination the Board unanimously decided that Captain Lees performed only his duty in the matter, and the charges were therefore dismissed.

A Chinawoman jumped into the bay to-day, intending to commit suicide. She was however promptly rescued.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—One of the escapes from the city prison (Murray) was retaken this evening.

The Black will case, after a trial of fifteen days, was concluded this evening. The argument occupied three days and a half. The Jury were out six hours. The verdict was that they believed Black was of unsound mind, but that he had not been acted upon by undue influence. The effect of this verdict will be the equal division of the property between his wife and daughter, Mrs. Burdell.

Interior California.

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—Active measures are being inaugurated by the advocates of temperance to obtain a vote of the people under the local option law recently passed. A petition will probably soon be in circulation for this purpose.

OAKLAND, April 2.—The race to-day at the Oakland trotting park was for $500, five miles out. The race was won by Lady Mace. Time 15 minutes. Rest distanced.

AUSTIN, April 2.—There is no truth in the account of the tragedy at Smoky Valley published in yesterday's Reveille.

The Manhattan Mill and Mining Co. shipped bullion valued at $140,000, to New York during the month of March.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Unfortunate Elida found off Cape Flattery.

VICTORIA, March 31.—The tugs Grappler and Isabella have succeeded in bringing the wreck from Cape Flattery into Esquimalt harbor. It has been ascertained that it is the schooner Elida, from Coos Bay. Ship carpenters will proceed at once to repair the damage caused by the shots of the Boxer, after which attempts will be made to right her. It is probable that the remains of some of the unfortunate passengers may yet be on board.

The Salem Statesman of Wednesday says: "Proceedings have been commenced for the April term of the Columbia County Circuit Court, by one Squire Bennet, of that county, vs. W. R. Dunbar, P. A. Owens, R. F. Maury, J. W. Porter, H. G. Struve, John Majors, Philip Lafler, Charles Caples, B. F. Giltner and George Thing. The suit is an action for damages, and the complaint is based upon the following statement of facts: It is alleged by plaintiff that in May, 1865, W. R. Dunbar, who was a lieutenant in the service, by order of Col. R. F. Maury, and advised and otherwise abetted by the other defendants named, assaulted and arrested said plaintiff, taking him to Vancouver, W. T., where he was confined in the guard house for a period of eight days, by which means he was greatly injured in reputation and business, and otherwise damaged to the extent of $5,000, at which amount he lays his damages. Bennet was arrested for rejoicing over the assassination of Lincoln.

JEFFERSON INDEPENDENT PRIMARY

JEFFERSON, March 31, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Those favorable to the Independent movement met at the City Hall on Saturday last for the purpose of electing four delegates to the Independent County Convention to meet at Salem on Saturday next.

The meeting was called to order by Wm. Stewart. A. F. Stinson was chosen Chairman and Jacob Conser Secretary.

The following named gentlemen were elected delegates to the County Convention: Charles Miller, Fred Stevens, Wm. Stewart and Wm. Pitt.

Chas. Miller was nominated as a candidate for Justice of the Peace and [illegible] Johnson for Constable.

The number in attendance was nearly three times as great as was at the preceding Republican primary, and the [illegible] provided. A general [illegible] has taken possession of the new adherents of the old parties here, and I doubt very much whether the combined strength of the Republican and Democratic force will equal the Independents at the coming June election.

DECISION IN THE U. S. DISTRICT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY

[illegible] v. Jackson & Imbrie. No. [illegible]. Action to recover [illegible].

[illegible] of the judiciary act [illegible] as rules of decision the laws of the States, regulating costs in the trial of [illegible] common law actions in the U. S. Court, unless otherwise provided. [illegible] of the act of [illegible] what items [illegible] of the prevailing party in [illegible] which the [illegible] is entitled to recover costs, and not otherwise, and implied [illegible] the costs [illegible] of the Oregon Code, which gives [illegible] costs to the defendant when the plaintiff is not entitled to them, does not apply to actions in this Court.

DEADY, J.—[illegible]

This action was brought to recover $4[illegible] for the wrongful conversion by the defendants of 7[illegible] bushels of oats and the sacks containing them. It was tried by a jury and a verdict given for the defendants. On a motion for a new trial the Court made an order setting aside the verdict and ordering a new trial, unless the defendants consented to the entry of a verdict for the plaintiff for the wrongful conversion of 60 bushels of said oats and 50 of said sacks, of the aggregate value of $27. The defendants consented and the verdict was so entered. Thereupon the plaintiff moved for judgment on the verdict with costs, to which the defendants objected, and moved that judgment be given for them for costs, because the verdict was for less than $50.

At common law, costs were not given to either party. By 6 Edward I, c. 1, commonly called the statute of Gloucester, costs were given in all cases to the party recovering damages de incremento, as an increase or increment of the judgment.

The act of February 26, 1853 (10 Stat. 161) provides what attorneys' fees and items of expense are taxable as costs in the National Courts. Dedekam v. Vose, 3 Bl. C. C. 153; Parker v. Bigler, 1 Fish. 285; Lyell v. Miller, 6 McLean 422; The Baltimore, 8 Wal. 388.

The statute of Gloucester is considered a part of the law which our ancestors brought to this country from England, and is in force here and governs the question which is entitled to costs in this case, unless a different rule has been prescribed by statute. Hathaway v. Roach, 2 W. & M. 68. There is no act of Congress which directly declares which party is entitled to recover costs, except in a few special cases, of which this is not one.

In Hathaway v. Roach, supra, decided in 1846, it was held that by force of § 34 of the Judiciary act the law of the State applied and governed the question of costs generally.

In May, 1852, Mr. Justice Nelson delivered an opinion, reported in appendix to 1 Bl. C. C. 652, in which he held that the right of the prevailing party to recover costs is recognized by the Judiciary act, but the rule as to what items were taxable was the one prescribed by the State statute. But in the course of the opinion it is assumed, in opposition to the opinion in Hathaway v. Roach, that the question is one to be governed by the laws regulating the practice and proceedings of the court, rather than § 34 of the Judiciary act, which furnishes the rule of decision in common law actions.

By § 5 of the act of June 1, 1872 (17 Stat. 197) it is provided that "the practice, pleadings and forms and modes of proceeding" in common law actions in the U. S. courts "shall conform" to that of the States where they are held. If the question of who is entitled to costs in a particular case is a question of practice—certainly it is not one of pleading or form or mode of proceeding—then, according to the opinion of Mr. Justice Nelson, supra, the subject is regulated by the law of the State.

But I think that the giving or withholding costs in a particular case is not a mere matter of practice. Costs are of the substance of the controversy and not the form. They are a part of the judgment and affect the right of the party as well as the recovery of the principal sum or thing. Therefore I agree with Mr. Justice Woodbury in Hathaway v. Roach, supra, that the subject of who shall recover costs in a common law action is within the purview of § 34 of the Judiciary Act, which provides: "The laws of the several States, except where the Constitution, treaties or statutes of the United States shall otherwise require or provide, shall be regarded as rules of decision in trials at common law in the Courts of the United States in cases where they apply."

The cases upon this subject are meagre and not satisfactory or in accord. In my judgment it is clear that the right to costs in this action—not the mere mode of taxing them or enforcing such right—depends upon the law of this State, because § 34 of the judiciary makes such law the rule of decision herein—the rule by which the rights of the parties are ascertained and measured in respect to all matters which enter into and form a part of the judgment or are determined by it.

Substantially § 5[illegible] of the Oregon Code provides that in an action of this kind the plaintiff shall not be allowed costs unless he recover $50 or more, or unless "a claim of title or interest in real property or right to the possession thereof arises from the pleadings or is certified by the court to have come in question upon the trial." § 541 enacts that "Costs are allowed of course to the defendant in the actions mentioned in § 5[illegible], unless the plaintiff be entitled to costs therein."

Unless then "a claim of title or interest in real property or right to the possession thereof arises upon the pleadings," in this case it is plain that the plaintiff cannot recover costs.

The only allegations upon which it is claimed that any such question could arise are the following:

(1) The adjudication in bankruptcy against A. J. Fleming. (2) The appointment of plaintiff as his assignee. (3) The execution of the deed of assignment to plaintiff. (4) The recording of the same. (5) The ownership of the real property upon which the oats in question were grown by Fleming. (6) The entry and taking possession of the property by the plaintiff.

The fifth of said allegations is admitted, and thereby the defendants admit that the title to the real property was in the bankrupt at the time of the adjudication and thereafter in the plaintiff, if, as he alleges, he is the duly qualified assignee.

The other five of said allegations are denied by the answer. Counsel for plaintiff maintains that such denials taken together amount to a denial of the plaintiff's title or right to the possession of the real property upon which the oats were grown, and upon which title or right he bases his property in the oats.

The denial of the sixth of said allegations only raises the question of fact—Did the plaintiff enter and take possession of the premises? No question of title or right to the possession of the property is involved in that allegation. Pollock v. Cummings, 38 Cal. 684; Tilden v. Quackenboss, 6 Hill 485; Miller v. Bayard, 15 Alb. 40; Burnett v. Kelly, 10 How. P. R. 406; Rathbone v. McConnell, 22 Barb. 414.

The other four allegations taken together simply allege in effect that the plaintiff was the duly qualified assignee of Fleming, in bankruptcy, and thereby entitled to maintain this action for the wrongful conversion of his property by the defendants.

Indeed there was no necessity of alleging in detail the adjudication, the appointment of assignee, the assignment and the record thereof. As in the case of an executor or administrator, it was only necessary to state—"plaintiff is assignee of the estate of Fleming, a bankrupt, duly adjudged a bankrupt according to the statute in such case made and provided," complaint of Jackson and Imbrie for that act.

A claim of title or interest in real property or right to the possession thereof cannot be said to arise upon the pleadings unless such claim or right is averred thereon upon the one side and denied upon the other. Jackson v. Randall, 11 Johns. 405.

§ 20 of the act of 1853, supra, provides that—"The bill of fees of clerk, marshal and attorneys and the amount paid printers and witnesses and lawful fees for exemplification and copies of papers necessarily obtained for use on trial in cases where by law costs are recoverable in favor of the prevailing party, shall be taxed by a Judge or Clerk of the Court, and be included in and form a portion of the judgment or decree against the losing party."

The rule which prescribes in what cases costs are recoverable in favor of the prevailing party is the law of the State above cited. But who is to be considered the prevailing party within the meaning of this section?

In a general sense the prevailing party in an action is the one for whom judgment is given concerning the matter or thing in controversy. In that sense the prevailing party in this case is the plaintiff, for he is entitled to judgment upon the merits for $27. Still by the State law costs are not recoverable by him because his damages are less than $50. Nor do I think the defendants are entitled to costs. In this case § 541 of the Oregon Code, which gives costs to the defendant in an action unless the plaintiff is entitled to them, does not apply, because § 20 of the statute of the United States, above cited, provides that [illegible] supra only gives costs to the prevailing party. They are to be included in and form a portion of the judgment or decree against the losing party. The right of the losing party to costs is not recognized, but impliedly denied. These provisions are inconsistent with the idea that there may be a judgment for the plaintiff upon the merits and for the defendant for costs, as implied in § 541 of the Or. Code.

In conclusion: (1) In the absence of any act of Congress to the contrary the party recovering damages in this court is entitled by virtue of the statute of Gloucester to recover costs without reference to the amount of such damage. (2) By virtue of § 34 of the Judiciary act, § 5[illegible] of the Or. Code, which in effect denies costs to the plaintiff in an action of trover when he recovers less than $50, is applicable to this action. (3) § 20 of the act of 1853, supra, specifies what items of costs may be taxed in favor of the prevailing party in cases where by the Or. Code such party is entitled to recover costs, but impliedly denies costs to the losing party in any case, and therefore § 541 of the Or. Code, which gives costs of course to the defendant when the plaintiff is not entitled to them, does not apply to actions in the U. S. Courts.

Let judgment be entered on the verdict for the plaintiff without costs to either party.

John [illegible], for plaintiff.

W. [illegible], for defendant.

THE TERRITORIES

The Laramie plains cover an area of 1,000 square miles.

Sitka has a population of about 250, exclusive of military.

Oysters in any form except fresh, 50 cents a dish in Laramie.

They are calling the Stickeen mines "the new El Dorado."

Game fowls and cock fighting are among the Montana manias.

The 1,000 Indians on the Verde reservation are reported in good condition.

Rev. J. G. Hook, of Philadelphia, was in Laramie recently fishing for souls.

Twenty five coal banks are open within from one to three miles of Trinidad, Colorado.

Thirty Chinamen will be put to work on the Olympia and Tenino Railroad next Monday.

Prof. Hayden asks Congress for $75,000 to continue his Colorado and other territorial surveys.

The cost of keeping the tracks of the C. P. R. R. clear the past winter has been greater than ever before.

Four new elevators will be constructed at Yankton, Dakota, the coming season for the shipment of grain.

Denver Smelting Works have taken another start, and are turning out some five tons of base bullion per day.

The Sitka Collector of Customs has been investigated by a Special Treasury Agent and came out all right.

The Arizona Citizen modestly allows itself to be considered as mainly instrumental in the downfall of O. O. Howard.

The Dakota Southern Railroad will invest $50,000 in substantial brick buildings in Yankton during the summer of 1874.

The Alaska Herald talks about "the cool headed residents of Sitka." In the name of wonder, how could they be anything else.

The bark [illegible] for Australia and Caroline Reed for San Francisco, are loading at Port Blakely and are nearly ready for sea.

It is stated that Mr. Garfielde has determined to hold to his Sitka mail contract, even if it should necessitate the surrender of the Collectorship.

The School Board in Seattle has passed an order disapproving of the teachers, during the terms of teaching, attending the dance and skating rink.

The Seattle jail was fired last Wednesday by one Samuel White, who was confined therein. The fire was suppressed before much damage was done.

The people of Yankton will not suffer for the want of ice the coming summer. There have been about [illegible] tons gathered within the last few weeks.

The Army and Navy Colony of Chicago are intending to locate at Rockport, the county seat of Hanson county, sixty miles up the Dakota river from Yankton.

The Prescott Miner says: "A good fiddler who would not spend one-half his time in gaming and drinking, would find Prescott a profitable field in which to labor."

The ditches of Salt River Valley are all reported as dry. Which makes a bad show for thieving politicians who are booked for a voyage through that famed region.

More business was done at the Yankton, Dakota, Land Office during the first two weeks of February, 1874, than for any entire previous month since the Land Office has been opened.

The Olympia Echo of last Wednesday says: Engineer Blake [illegible] is surveying routes to the Seattle coal mines in view of more through railroad and working of said mines.

The Yuma Sentinel says: "Wm. B. Hooper & Co. have just received two pairs of blankets, the best ever seen by the editor—one is a present for Cahime and the other for his old [illegible] friend. They cost $50 a pair."

A prominent California capitalist says there is more confidence in Utah mines this spring than has ever before been manifested in California, but capitalists will not invest until the Courts are put in operation by proper legislation.

Discoveries of copper ore of a superior quality are reported in the neighborhood of Canyon City, Colorado. Silver ore said to be very rich has been found just west of Cedar Park, northwest of [illegible] Park, in the same Territory.

A Fort Garland correspondent of the [illegible] furnishes the following to that paper: The bark [illegible] sailed on the 24th in tow of the steamer [illegible] for San Francisco. The brig [illegible] and bark [illegible] are loading for the same port.

The Arizona M[illegible] goes for Gen. O. O. Howard with mit gloves: "As nearly as we can judge from this distance, the white men in the Indian country would not be awake to feel sorry if that Christian [illegible] should happen to find himself in a position to play checkers with his nose."

Col. C. W. Foster, A. Q. M. of the Military District of Dakota, has been ordered to make Yankton his headquarters, and the Government supplies for both the Military and Indian Departments will be shipped to Yankton by railroad, and from thence up the Missouri by steamers to their destination at the forts and agencies.

Gov. Campbell, of Wyoming, who has been interviewed on the Indian question by a local reporter, is said to be of the opinion "that the Government will send several companies of troops up into the Sioux country and establish military posts there, and that this will raise a quarrel with the Indians of more or less magnitude."

LETTER FROM THE STATE PRINTER

PORTLAND, April 2, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have just finished reading in your paper of to-day a letter headed "The State Printing," and signed with a star, but having no data I use to [illegible] the [illegible] of its author.

In the letter are reiterated charges against myself which were originally urged before the Legislature of 1872 by a "lobby" composed of my bitter personal enemies, and which were shown to be groundless by an investigation made by a committee composed mainly of political opponents. Your correspondent then, when he used the word "stealings," allowed his personal prejudices to lead him into an assertion that is shown to be utterly false by the official records of the State.

The rest of the letter of your correspondent is devoted to a series of statements, designed to embarrass my operations in carrying on the public work, by raising a doubt as to the disposition of the State to pay for what it has by law ordered one of its officers to do. Such an attempt as this is simply despicable, and in my opinion could not emanate from any person not actuated by vindictive motives.

If the public press of Oregon gives quasi endorsement to the views of a writer who predicts that the State will practice repudiation in a given case where it cannot avoid responsibility by law, unquestionably the effect will be to embarrass the State Printer in a very serious manner. It will not secure the success of a scheme to throw the Code into the hands of the next State Printer, however, nor will it have the effect to drive the work into the nets of the usurers whose offers have been rejected. The Code and other public work entrusted to me will be done in the best manner known to the art, and much better than is required by law, or the custom of former Printers. And it will be paid for according to the strict letter of the law and former custom, unless parties who agree with your correspondent shall gain control of the Legislature and carry out his threats. I do not apprehend danger from that source, however; for if repudiation of the bills of the State Printer for work deliberately ordered and honestly done is to be an issue of the campaign, I will appeal to the people in my own defense, and am confident I can obtain justice.

Respectfully your obedient servant,

EUGENE SEMPLE.

HOW MATTERS STAND IN JACKSON CO

PHŒNIX, JACKSON COUNTY, March 29, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Many people in this county have been talking it over—the Independent movement now on foot. None of us who have talked this over have ever voted anything but a Democratic ticket, and we want to tell you how it is that we now intend to join in the people's movement and support the Independent ticket. The Democratic party in this county has been for some years divided into two wings, the one set headed by Mr. Fay, Mr. J. N. T. Miller and Mr. Klippel, and numbering about three tenths of the Democracy, and the other set numbering about seven tenths without any politician for a leader. There is no use denying it, but the wing last named has always been out generaled, although numbering a great many more than the others. There is no rubbing that out, and we are not ashamed of it, because it is a fact that there never was in this county, nor do I think in the State, any few men who could handle primaries and county conventions equal to the three men just named. We are tired of being misrepresented in State conventions as was the case again at this Albany Convention. There was a petition sent down to that Convention asking that Mr. Klippel should not be nominated for Treasurer, and signed by over 200 Democrats, because they were "gouged" in the County Convention here. We want you to know that for this once, anyway, we will try the Independent ticket and see if it works any better. It is all we can do to pay our taxes, and if a man owes you a just debt you cannot make him pay, for everything goes to the Clerk and Sheriff. It would be good for sore eyes to see a State convention once that had somebody else in it besides office holders and swamp landers. From what talk I have had and the kind of men going into the Independent party, I think you may set down Jackson for 300 majority for it, sure.

Yours respectfully,

BLAR CREEK.

VANCOUVER ITEMS

Mrs. Schuele, wife of D. F. Schuele, after a long and painful illness, died Wednesday morning.

Farmers are very busy in getting in their spring crops, improving every hour of this beautiful weather.

Sturgeon fishing in the Columbia near this place is extensively carried on this spring, and with good success.

Passion Week is being duly observed by the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches in this place. The Methodists are also holding services in the afternoon and evening of each day of this week.

Mrs. Curtis, wife of Prof. Curtis, died last Monday morning and was buried from the Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Chaplain Van Horn, by request of deceased, preached the funeral sermon.

Several deserters have been captured and returned to this post since the stampede of a week ago, but there are nearly twenty still at large. A portion of those deserting were recruits and a portion were returned deserters.

There is to be a grand rally of the Temperance Alliance next Saturday afternoon. Speakers from abroad are expected to address the meeting. There will also be a grand temperance meeting on the evening of the same day.

The Grange movement in this county is becoming very popular and will exert a great influence during the next political campaign. Although we have heard of only two Granges being established, others will be, and their influence will be felt.

The work of ditching for the laying of the iron pipes for the water company has been commenced. The wooden pipes first put in have given a great deal of trouble from bursting and leaking, so that repairs were constantly needed. The iron pipes will undoubtedly stand the pressure and give no further trouble.

EUGENE CITY ITEMS

Our correspondent at Eugene sends the following, under date of April 21:

It speaks well for the peacefulness of the inhabitants of Lane county that there has not been a single prisoner confined in the county jail since the last term of the Circuit Court.

An item has been going the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that a man died suddenly at the depot in Eugene last week. Eugene people know nothing of such an occurrence, and think the "dead" must stand for d—d.

Farmers in this vicinity are making the most of the late pleasant weather, and a very large amount of grain is being sown. One gentleman states that within two miles of his residence there will be a thousand acres of wheat more than ever before.

The Eugene Library Association have leased a hall in the second story of G. W. Odell's building on Willamette street. Workmen are now engaged in removing partitions, repapering and fitting up the room generally. It will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

Hon. Ben Simpson, who arrived here last Sunday, assumed control of the Surveyor General's Office to-day. Since his arrival he has been closely besieged by a number of mendicants, animated by a lively sense of favors to come. R. P. Earhart is to be Chief Clerk. It is understood that George Stowell, draughtsman under the former incumbent, will retain his position—at least for a time.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 3 1874

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE PEOPLE?

When one takes up one after another of the great journals of the United States which have been consistently Republican from 1860 down, which have been in times past the stay and support of President Grant and his administration, and reads in all of them criticisms of the present management of affairs at Washington in terms but little less severe than those that are to be found in the Democratic papers one is irresistibly led to doubt whether the administration has so deep a hold upon the affections of the American people as it formerly had When one sees the same thing in all the country papers, except such as are known to be living on Government patronage in some form the impression that the Administration has lost somewhat of the popular confidence becomes decidedly stronger When one daily hears fall from the lips of men who gave their votes and their active efforts for the re election of President Grant, words not exactly in condemnation of the President himself, but in deprecation of the patent fact that he is surrounded and largely influenced by men of corrupt hearts and mercenary motives, one can not but feel that the views generally entertained at this time with relation to the mode of conducting the public business are essentially different from those entertained before, and at the time of the last Presidential election And when one studies the reports of the various investigations that have been going on at Washington of late, and comprehends the number and immensity of the frauds practiced upon the people with the aid sometimes, with the connivance always, of persons immediately connected with the Government it is impossible not to perceive that there is such cause for dissatisfaction as could not fail to work a radical change in the popular mind

The majority of the American people do not believe the President to be a positively bad man Unless we mistake very greatly, the majority do not believe him to be a man criminally selfish or inordinately ambitious The cry of Cæsarism, started by the New York Herald some time ago, and for a while echoed by many other papers, never possessed even the semblance of truthfulness, and the American public showed their intelligence and good sense by refusing to be disturbed for a moment by such arrant nonsense But there is everywhere apparent a feeling that the second administration of Grant has fallen below the first, and far below the promises given by himself and his party immediately previous to his second election. The expectations of the country have been disappointed, and there is no hesitancy in any quarter about saying so With the commencement of a second term, which, by the customs of this country, must be regarded as in all probability the last, appeared to come the end of that vigilant care for the welfare for the nation which had characterized the first term Immediately after the election, the reduction of the public debt which had been going on at the rate of from five to ten millions of dollars per month ceased, and instead thereof there began a constant increase which has been kept up ever since In the absence of any explanation of this fact from the Government, people have reasoned out their own explanations, and these have not been the most favorable to the Administration If the debt could be continually reduced with such rapidity up to the Presidential election, it would seem but natural to expect similar reduction, or at all events some reduction, afterward Here was evidence of neglect at the very mildest If on the other hand the reduction reported monthly with such regularity before the election was not in fact made but was only made to appear by a species of legerdemain in the Secretary's accounts as some insisted at the time, then the whole thing was a deception and a fraud upon the people to secure their votes Thus has the country reasoned, because the Administration has furnished no other or better explanation of the facts

And then the repudiation of the obligation of the solemn pledges made by himself and in his party platform, with reference to the civil service reform, has added nothing to the popularity of this second Administration So far as platform and pledges had anything to do in securing the re-election of Grant in 1872, the attitude of his party upon this subject, more than upon any other, influenced the popular vote The abuses which this reform was intended to correct, had become so palpable, and so gross, that the people were not only anxious, but clamorous to get rid of the nauseous system They took the President at his word accepted the pledges of the Philadelphia Convention and reseated him in the Presidential chair with a heartiness that amounted to enthusiasm But he failed them So utterly dead fell the civil service reform that one is laughed at who talks of it as any longer a policy of the Government No explanation of this appearance of a bad faith being furnished the public have naturally looked at the matter in the light of such facts as they have been in possession of It has looked to an outsider that the President proved unequal to the emergency and sunk into the position of a mere instrument of unscrupulous politicians We wish there were abundant room to discredit this view

Add to these things the Sanborn swindles, the Phelps Dodge & Co transaction the Louisiana outrages the Washington City improvement stench, the thousand ways in which the "one gold toothpick" has picked into the public confidence, in many of which matters the President really had no hand but with all of which his Administration is identified in the public estimation and a rational idea can be formed why the second Administration of President Grant is so much less popular than the first

D H Murphy County Clerk of Marion recorded a few days since the first land patent ever issued by the United States to the Territory of Oregon It was issued during the administration of James Buchanan to King Hibbard and Nancy Hibbard The land is now owned by their sons

A SOUND PLATFORM

The resolutions introduced into the Independent primaries at Salem, by Hon John Minto and unanimously adopted, have just the right sound on the important questions that underlie the people's movement They propose no impractical measures They go off after no visionary theories They are simply the demands of the hour set down in plain unequivocal English All proper and protective encouragement they declare should be given to corporations companies and persons engaged in transportation commerce or any other legitimate pursuit but all should be subject to the law That is just right No friend of his country would wish to see railways or any other lawful enterprise stopped Upon these the welfare of the country to a very great extent depends It can hardly be imagined that any intelligent person thinks the building of railways a damage to the community at large But on the other hand it can not be supposed that any one is so blind as not to see that the enormous power that these giant corporations have acquired has been used to corrupt the fountains of public justice and oppress the people This is not saying that all the men who have had the management of these enterprises are necessarily bad men Some of them are unscrupulous corrupters of legislatures and courts, as everybody knows—enough of them As a class they may be set down as neither better nor worse than other people, and that is equivalent to saying they will secure the enactment of laws as favorable to themselves as possible and then take all that the law allows them, without stopping to consider very long the question whether their tariffs are just such as an equitable division of profits between labor and capital—between producers and carriers—would require The safe rule the rule least liable to operate oppressively on any class, and certainly the rule most in accordance with the spirit of our institutions is to place the rights and privileges of these associations, on exactly the same basis that the rights and privileges of natural persons rest upon As no man is above the law, so shall no association of men be above the law, whether they be united in a corporation, joint stock company, or any other form of co operative action Legislatures may err, but disinterested men called together from different sections uninfluenced by personal considerations as they should be, they are far less likely to adopt partial and unjust views in a case involving large pecuniary interests, than the parties directly concerned They will commit no more and no graver errors against the railway companies than they do constantly commit against individuals engaged in other enterprises and who never so much as think of setting themselves above the authority of the State No one of the many able lawyers that have been in the service of the railway companies, has ever yet been able to advance a single argument of any weight, to show why there should be conceded to the corporations which are creatures of the law, rights that would place them beyond the reach of legal control and regulation and outside the pale of legal responsibility A few dozens of Mintos in the Legislature of this or any other State, would settle these transportation problems upon principles that would be equitable to all parties

PLAIN LANGUAGE FROM HON JOHN MINTO

In his card declining the nomination for Representative tendered by the Marion County Republican Convention, Hon John Minto defines his political attitude as follows

The County Convention of the regular Republicans, held at Salem March 28th 1874 without my knowledge or consent, nominated me as a candidate for a seat in the next Legislature, with a knowledge on the part of many of its members that I was in earnest sympathy with the Independent movement for a new party

I was at a loss to know how to construe the action of the Convention knowing as I did that I had many most highly valued personal friends among its members and on inquiring among them have received repeated assurances that the action of the Convention was not intended to swerve me from the course I have chosen as the one I deem best calculated to remedy the abuses that now prevail in the management of public affairs

I have been assured by individual friends that they supported me because they endorsed my independent course and coincided with me in views they had heard me express These assurances while they convey a great compliment to me personally, and through me to the great number of good men who are identified with the Independent movement by in this manner justifying it make it particularly painful for me to decline the nomination But I fully believe in the justice of the general complaint and equally general determination [illegible] against the longer domination of the class of men who have succeeded in fastening themselves to the two old parties and have weighed them down out of reach of the hope and dependence of men who believe in a political morality superior to that of Ben Butler or even that of Ben Holladay and Senator Mitchell The causes of dissatisfaction reach from Massachusetts to Oregon and the power is now rising (as I believe from its legitimate source) throughout [illegible] whole extent that can and will remove these causes Of course it would be a great pleasure to me (were I running for an office) to receive the endorsement of such a large number of good representative men as nominated me in that Convention but I cannot for the sake of that pleasure put myself in the power of the few place and spoil hunters who were there as they have been at too many conventions of the people of Oregon touching the [illegible] spring which shaped the action of infinitely better men than themselves I think it just to the Republicans who still [illegible] for the purification of their party as well as to myself that I should thus decline their request to enter into a canvass where the [illegible] first object of my attack would be the first plank of their platform for I certainly cannot endorse the [illegible] of the action of the National Administration for the past two years any more than I can of our State Government for the past four The resolution adopted by the [illegible] meeting of the Independents of South Salem will indicate to some small extent my views [illegible] a few of the subjects that will enter into the discussion of public affairs but the list [illegible] comes far [illegible] and a most [illegible] the people is extensive and demand [illegible] investigation and I certainly cannot place myself in [illegible] way of a full and free discussion of the cause.

JOHN MINTO

It is hardly necessary for us to add that the author of the foregoing sentiments is a gentleman of unquestioned integrity and ability Mr Minto is known over all Oregon as one of the most intelligent and enterprising farmers in the State His name and character would add weight to any ticket But he was not to be caught by the chaff of a worthless nomination It is because the Independent movement received its impetus at the hands of such as he, that its success is assured The Marion County Independent Convention meets to morrow We hope it will do its work thoroughly The one thing needful is to select men who will serve the people honestly and with fidelity With a ticket thus made up defeat in Marion will be next to impossible

The launch of the City of Peking a magnificent iron steamship built at the Delaware River Iron Ship Building and Engine Works Chester Penn for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was successfully accomplished March 18th With the single exception of the Great Eastern the City of Peking is the largest vessel ever constructed Her dimensions are as follow Length overall [illegible] feet breadth of beam 48 feet depth of hold 38 feet tons burden 5000 She will be rigged with four masts and will have accommodation for 150 cabin and 1,800 steerage passengers She will have engines consisting of two cylinders of [illegible] inches each (high pressure) and two of 88 inches each (low pressure) with [illegible] inches stroke of piston These are warranted to give 15 or 15½ knots per hour in average weather The City of [illegible] a companion ship to the City of Peking and of equal size will be launched Both vessels were built by Mr John Roach who declares that his experience demonstrates that a first class ocean steamer can be built just as cheaply at Chester as on the Clyde The launch of the City of Peking was justly regarded as an important event in American ship building A large number of Congressmen and Senators witnessed the ceremony and speeches were made by Cameron, Bogy, Nesmith Roach and others

The King of France with forty thousand men
Went up a hill and so came down again —

Saith good old Fulton in "The Pigges Corantoe" A similar mournful sentiment pervades the report of those solid men of Boston who went up to Washington to dethrone Butlerism in the White House and came back scalped In this report the merchants acknowledge that they were beaten recount in detail the interview with Gen Grant and denounce in strong terms the impudence of Gen Butler, of which they say

Under the thin veil of polite phrases Gen Butler in his speech to us said Merchants of Boston stick to your Alabama claims your bank stocks and your money bags and leave your politics to me

The delegation is unanimous in a strong protest against the corrupt influences which rule at Washington From the failure of their mission the merchants draw this moral which by this time is very well understood in all parts of the country

The pending issue was a contest which must be fought out through the whole land with intriguing politicians on one hand, armed too often with weapons obtained under false pretences from the Federal arsenal and the people on the other, standing firmly for self government

At last we are able to give the official vote of New Hampshire, March 10th, It is as follows

James A Weston Dem	35,7[illegible]
Luther McCutchins Rep	34,131
John Blackmer, Temperance	2,135
Total vote	71,830

This is a very heavy vote as compared with preceding years In 1871 the aggregate vote was 69,688 in 1872 76,424; in 1873, 67,748 Neither candidate having received a majority, the election is thrown into the Legislature, which body compares with preceding years as follows

	1874		187[illegible]		1872		1871
	Sen	Ho	S	H	S	H	S	H
Democrats	8	177	3	144	4	150	6	16[illegible]
Republicans	4	167	9	201	8	210	6	164

"Various reasons are given for the defeat of the Republican candidate Many Administration papers point to the Simmons affair as the chief cause, while others reproach the Temperance party with infidelity The statistics of the Temperance vote are thus given In 1871, 314 1872 478, 1873, 698; 1874 2 135 The Democratic majority of fourteen in the Legislature elect will give New Hampshire a Democratic Governor for twelve months

A Berlin letter dated March 18th announces the death of Johann Heinrich Maedler the distinguished German astronomer In his favorite science he was one of the most eminent men of the century His Mappa Selenographica a lunar chart The Existence of a Central Sun and Researches into the System of Fixed Stars are the best known of his many works At the time of his death Maedler was Professor of Astronomy and Director of the Observatory of Dorpat

AN INSANE GERMAN WEARIED OF HIS PRESENT EXISTENCE CUTS HIS THROAT WITH A RAZOR

About half past 12 o clock yesterday, as Officer Hudson was walking up Second street he was met by a man named Steinmeyer who in a very excited manner informed that officer he had just discovered a dead man lying in a room up stairs immediately above the P C Advocate office He informed Hudson that from appearances the man had evidently destroyed his own life as his throat was found cut Accompanied by Officer Kelly and Steinmeyer Hudson repaired to the scene with all possible dispatch On reaching the building the narrow stair case was ascended and the room entered There a most horrid and ghastly spectacle greeted the sickened gaze of those who came in On the floor was found a man lying stark and cold in the embrace of death weltering in a mass of clotted gore Firmly and with a vice like grasp was clutched the fatal razor in his left hand and from two frightful gashes inflicted on each side of the windpipe the life blood had just ceased to flow

The body was found lying on the left side with the legs partially crossed while the head rested on the top of a pitcher which was filled with water Lying on the bed was found a razor case and on the table a small hand mirror lying face down with blood spattered over it From every indication the man had died very suddenly after committing the terrible deed and without any apparent struggle For several yards around the floor was covered with blood to the depth of an inch or more and contributed much to intensify the terrible and vivid scene of the tragedy

Information of the self murder was soon communicated to the Police head quarters and from there to Coroner Dryer, who caused a Jury to be summoned Meantime the ghastly corpse was removed to the undertaker s where soon after an inquest was held over the remains From all the testimony elicited at the inquest it appears that the following are the facts connected with this tragical affair The name of the deceased is Wilhelm Klump He was a German by birth and a moulder by trade He has resided in this city for about two years past Last summer he was engaged at the Oregon Iron Works and during the fall months and a portion of the winter at John Nation s stove foundry at Brooklyn For some time past Klump had been boarding at the Globe Hotel and sleeping in the room where he was found dead The man Steinmeyer who was the first person to discover the body and to give the officer information of the fact, had also been lodging with deceased for some time Klump for about two weeks prior to the tragical event had manifested strong symptoms of insanity He had been out of employment some time and for unknown reasons had become very much depressed in spirits, imagining that the police officers and others were on his track One week ago last Sunday he visited the bakery of Mr Varwig, where he remained several hours drank some, and engaged in a few games of cards When ready to depart Klump told an acquaintance that he did not wish to live any longer; that he was wearied of life and if his friend would only furnish him with a pistol, he (Klump) would give him all the money he possessed He subsequently made the same proposition several times to his room mate, Mr Steinmeyer Among his friends Klump was considered to be partially insane but no fears were entertained that he seriously contemplated carrying into execution his oft repeated threat He was seen on the streets yesterday morning about 8 o clock so that the fatal deed must have been committed between that hour and 12 o clock On the person of the deceased was found $175 in coin By those who know, it is said that Klump held a note against Mr John Nation for about $90 He was aged about 40 years and, so far as is known was unmarried and has no relations in the State Although known to drink at times he was never seen intoxicated on the contrary, was a steady, industrious man His trunk was carefully searched, but nothing was discovered of the note alluded to Among his clothes and personal effects, were found a certificate of citizenship and also a photograph, representing two ladies which from the strong personal resemblance are supposed to be the mother and sister of the unfortunate victim

On an examination of the wounds by Drs Pilkington and Kinney it was discovered that the jugular veins on each side of the neck were severed by the keen edge of the instrument of death employed Death must have followed the self inflicted wounds in a few seconds Two gentlemen who occupy an adjoining room, and who did not rise yesterday morning until after 10 o clock knew nothing whatever of the fatal occurrence Those who are employed in the Advocate office were likewise ignorant of the tragedy until the body was discovered in the condition before mentioned

After examining the following witnesses—Mr Varwig E Eckert, H M Hudson Mr Steinemeyer and officer Kelly—the jury rendered the following verdict

We the undersigned jurors summoned this day to inquire into the death of a person found dead in a room over the office of the Christian Advocate on Second street between Taylor and Salmon do find that deceased came to his death by a knife wound inflicted with a razor and by his own hands and that deceased was known by the name of Wilhelm Klump

PRESENTATIONS.

Last evening about half past 8 o clock a large number of the members of the First Congregational Church repaired in a body to the engine house of Protection Engine Co No 4 for the purpose of presenting to that Company a handsome and substantial present This present was a large copy of the Bible elegantly bound and appropriately and elaborately embossed The large delegation arrived just as the Company had assembled for a brief [illegible] Although a surprise to all present the apparent intrusion was quickly explained to the members and to their complete satisfaction After order was restored H H Northup, Esq who was elected to make the presentation speech stepped forward and holding the copy in his hand said

Mr President It is but a few moments since I was requested in behalf of the First Congregational Church to now present to you and through you to Protection Engine Company No 4 this Book which I now hold in my hands I ask [illegible] to read the dedication

"Presented to Protection Engine Company No 4 by the First Congregational Church and Society of Portland Oregon in [illegible] of their heroic efforts in [illegible] to save the church building from destruction by the fire of August [illegible] 1873"

I well remember sir on the morning of the [illegible] of August [illegible] [illegible] were turning our city into ruins with what emotion I witnessed the action of Protection No 4 A few of us whose homes were no longer [illegible] gathered at the Congregational Church determined if possible to save it from the [illegible] As we saw house after house swept away the dwellings across the street yielding, we felt that our efforts would be vain An attempt was made to get water on the roof and this we [illegible] but this had to be abandoned as we were about giving up hope—feeling that things must take their own course Protection No 4 whose bell had been [illegible] all [illegible] of alarm—the first ever to be given—was seen approaching Your Foreman Mr R Holman cool and steady took in the situation at a moment He saw that if the church was consumed the fire would get a new power Placing his trumpet to his mouth he shouted Turn the [illegible] on the church The work was done—the fire was beaten Its progress across the street was stayed and a large portion of our city was saved That point became just then one of strategic importance Protection No 4 saw this and met it the most [illegible] God s book [illegible] while teaching all things pure and good, yet particularly teaches true manliness—the fireman s strong element and characteristic It tells the story of David who on one occasion was so pressed by his foes as to be compelled to encamp without water He spoke of his great thirst in the presence of two of his captains They stole through the camp of the enemy which lay between him and the [illegible] which they sought procured water and brought it to their chief But David when he saw what they had brought and knew what they had done took the water and poured it upon the ground saying God forbid that I should drink of this for it is the price of blood

This book teaches self denial self sacrifice which so often are called for in the life of a fireman Gentlemen your company has the hopes good wishes and prayers of the First Congregational Church that you may long continue in your usefulness

At the close of Mr Northrup s remarks the handsome present was accepted by the President Mr John C Carson on behalf of the company and responded to by that gentleman in a few well chosen and appropriate remarks The surprise was as complete as it was deserved and the presentation ceremonies were conducted in a most pleasant happy manner It was such an occasion as the members of Protection will long remember with associations of pleasure

The President then called upon Rev F D Eaton the pastor of the Church who responded substantially as follows

Gentlemen No words of mine can add anything to what has been said But while your President was speaking with reference to the objects sought by the organizations respectively of the Fire Company and of the Church one thought was brought to mind You who fight fire and we who worship in the church over the way have been brought by the presentation address to stand on the common ground of this Holy Bible and the hope springs in my heart that when the great day comes which shall try every man's work of what sort it is it may be found that all of us have built upon Christ the foundation stone a superstructure of gold silver and precious stones rather than of wood hay and stubble—a work that shall not be burned in the day of fiery trial

GOLD WATCH PRESENTED

Mr Robert Holman the veteran fireman ex Chief Engineer and present Foreman of Protection was doomed to another surprise far more complete and overwhelming than the presentation of the Bible. Scarcely had order been restored when Mr Chauncey Ball stepped forward and said

Mr Holman In behalf of your many friends by whom you have been surrounded for so many years and in consideration of your valuable and distinguished services as a fireman, and particularly as Foreman of our Company we desire on this occasion to present you this slight token of our esteem for you as an officer as well as our friendship toward you as an upright man a good citizen and a gentleman

Although its value pecuniarily speaking is of no mean order yet it is not as great as we could wish but such as it is sir it is hoped by the donors that it may be accepted by you as a testimonial of our esteem as well as our appreciation of those uniform courtesies and civilities ever extended by you during your long career as an officer to each and every member of our company which circumstance sir more than any other has been the means of making the hazardous lives we are leading as firemen to become more pleasant and endurable Accept this little souvenir of ours and when in after years you cast your eyes upon it let it remind you of one happy moment one bright spot in the dark vicissitude of life s busy cares to which you may look back with a just and manly pride

You sir like many of us present have reached the meridian of life although you are yet in the full vigor of your manhood and it is desirable on the part of your many friends that your usefulness in the sphere in which you seem to excel should be continued And that the declining years of you and yours should be as prosperous and happy as your boyhood days as a fireman have been vigilant and active is the heartfelt wish of the donors and the many friends by which you are surrounded

The "slight token" consisted of an elegant gold watch chain and locket worth $170 presented by the members of the Company to their Foreman It was a beautiful present one of which the recipient will ever have occasion to feel proud So complete was Mr Holman s surprise that for a moment he scarcely knew what to say or do At length speech came to his rescue, and he accepted the elegant testimonial with a few fitly chosen remarks Altogether it was one of the most pleasant occasions which our firemen have experienced for a long time and will ever be remembered with emotions of pleasure and pride

"HOUSEKEEPER" OF HEALTH.

The liver being the great depurating or blood cleansing organ of the system—set this great housekeeper of our health at work and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood and rot out as it were the machinery of life are gradually expelled from the system For this purpose Dr Pierce s Golden Medical Discovery with very small daily doses of Dr Pierce s Pleasant Purgative Pellets are pre eminently the articles needed They are every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple blotch or eruption Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of their terrors and by their persevering and somewhat protracted use the most tainted systems may be completely renovated [illegible] Enlarged glands tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great resolvents

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 3 1874

GLADSTONE'S NEW POEM

We give two passages selected from Gladstone's translation of Homer's description of the Shield of Achilles

First of all the Shield he moulded
Broad and strong, and wrought throughout
With a bright and starry border
Threefold thick set round about
Downward hung its belt of silver
Five the layers of the Shield
And with skilful mind he sculptured
Rare devices o'er its field

There he wrought Earth, Sea and Heaven
There he set the unwearying Sun
And the waxing Moon and Stars that
Crown the blue vault every one
Pleiads Hyads strong Orion
Arctos hight too the Wain
He upon Orion waiting
Only he of all the train
Shunning still the baths of Ocean
Wheels and wheels his round again

There he carved two goodly cities
Thick with swarms of speaking men
Weddings were in one and banquet
Torches blazing overhead
Nuptial hymns and from their chamber
Brides about the city led
Here to pipe and harp resounding
Young men wildly whirling danced
While the women each one standing
By their porches gazed entranced

* * * * *

There a dance the mighty master
In the broidered metal wrought
Such to rich haired Ariadne
Dædalus in Knossos brought
Spacious Knossos Youths and maidens
Maidens growing of age to wed
Hands on wrist each one with other
Through the mazes lightly sped
These are robed in rarest muslin
Those fine woven tunics wear
Soft with glaze of oil and glistening
These are crowned with garlands fair
Those their golden poniards hanging
From their belts of silver bear

Now with trained feet careering
All the troop in circle flies
Like the potter's wheel in gearing
Which for speed he sits and tries
Now each rank in backward movement
On the rank behind them fall

Charmed with those bewitching dances
Through a gazing crowd Mid all
Harps and sings the sacred minstrel
Ever as his notes begin,
Tumblers twain are widely whirling
Round the open ring within
Ocean's might, resistless river
Last of all his labor sealed
Rolling round the outmost border
Of the deftly fashioned shield

WILLIAM H SEWARD'S BULL

A BEWILDERED CONGREGATION SET RIGHT BY THE ELUCIDATION OF A PARABLE.

Mr Seward was a sort of standing mediator of church difficulties in this country Contending parties in those disputes and troubles which destroy harmony and brotherly love in churches would often mutually seek his mediation, and such was their confidence in him that each party would accept his advice and settle apparently irreconcilable quarrels and difficulties

An amusing incident was once the result of an appeal to him in one of these church difficulties which had for a long time threatened the destruction of a Presbyterian Church in a neighboring town At last it was decided to submit all these difficulties to Mr Seward and that his decision should be entirely conclusive He consented to become the umpire for the parties gave them a patient hearing, and promised to send them his decision in writing In due time he arrived at a decision, reduced it to writing, and inclosed it in a letter to one of the leading members of the church

At this time Mr Seward was the owner of a farm in another part of the county which was occupied by a tenant, to whom he wrote at the time he was about to mail his decision in the case of the church In directing the letters the one intended for the church was directed to his tenant, while the one intended for the tenant was sent to the church It was duly received by the proper officer, and the members of the congregation assembled to hear the decision of Mr. Seward, which was to heal all difficulties and dissensions

After calling the congregation to order, the Moderator, in appropriate language explained the object of the meeting "I hold in my hand, said he, a paper which I am about to open and read to this assembly which I have no doubt, the olive branch that is to restore harmony and prosperity to this church and congregation. It comes from one who though a lawyer, loves the Lord and is a peacemaker" Then breaking open Mr Seward's letter, he read the following

'You will take particular care of that old dangerous black bull, which often attacks people when not aware of his presence and sometimes plunges at them openly, and you must carefully see to the repair of the fences that they are built high and strong and also see that the water in the spring is always kept pure.'

There was a mystery about this advice that greatly puzzled the whole assembly, who, for a long time, sat in profound silence Presently, however, he recovered himself enough to say

'Brethren, I—I—don't exactly—that is to say, I—I can hardly see how this applies to our case Suppose we have a season of prayer over it and ask the Lord for instruction'

Accordingly, the congregation knelt, while several of the leading members fervently addressed the Throne of Grace When the people resumed their seats, one of the oldest, most esteemed and pious members of the church arose

'Brethren, said he nothing can exceed the wisdom of Mr Seward's decision I have no doubt the Lord directed him when he wrote it, for it is just what we need, and I know it will restore peace and harmony among us Look at its great wisdom The direction to keep the fences in repair is to admonish us to take good heed in the admission and government of the members of this church We must see to it that only those who are regenerated are admitted into our fold The direction to keep the spring open and pure means that we must not let our faith, our love for each other get cold and clogged and our daily walk and conversation corrupted by the weak and beggarly elements of the world And we must, in a particular manner set a watchful guard over the devil—the old, dangerous black bull who often attacks us when we are not aware of his presence and who, with his long horns, plunges at us openly, and who has made many savage plunges at this church in particular

These remarks opened the eyes of all the people present to the wisdom and enlightened piety of Mr Seward's decision It was unanimously resolved to abide by it, and peace, good will and prosperity were restored to the church brotherly love took the place of hatred and piety increased Nearly forty years have passed away since this remarkable decision was received by that church Its organization has been continued down to the present time with uninterrupted prosperity

What effect Mr Seward's letter had on his tenant has never been known —Proctor's Beach and Bar of New York

A DISHEARTENED INSURANCE AGENT

A family named Kemper moved into a house in our row recently, writes Max Adler and Benjamin P Gunn the life-insurance agent who lives in the same row was the first caller He dropped in to see if he could not take out a policy for Mr Kemper Mrs Kemper came down to the parlor to see him

'I suppose said Gunn that Mr Kemper has no insurance on his life

No, said Mrs Kemper

Well I'd like to get him to take out a policy in our company It's the safest in the world, the largest capital, smallest rates and biggest dividends

Mr Kemper don't take much interest in such things now, said Mrs K.

Well madam but he ought to in common justice to you No man knows when he will die and by paying a ridiculously small sum now Mr Kemper can leave his family in affluence I'd like to hand you for him a few pamphlets containing statistics upon the subject May I

Of course if you wish to

Don't you think he can be induced to insure asked Gunn

I hardly think so replied Mrs Kemper

He is in good health I suppose Has he complained lately of being sick

Not lately

May I ask if he has any considerable wealth

Not a cent

Then of course he must insure No poor man can afford to neglect such an opportunity I suppose he travels sometimes goes out in railroad cars and other dangerous places

"No, he keeps very quiet

Man of steady habits I suppose?

Very steady

'He is just the very man I want said Gunn I know I can sell him a policy

'I don't think you can replied Mrs Kemper

Why? When will he be home I'll call on him I don't know any reason why I shouldn't insure him

I know replied Mrs Kemper

Why

He has been dead twenty seven years [illegible] [illegible] left all [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the Kemper

The Hop Market

We learn that in several localities in our State pretty extensive preparations are being made to grow this plant the present season and judging by former experiments success is quite well assured A New York circular of March 13th says

The slight improvement noted in our last has not been sustained and under a combination of depressing influences prices have given way [illegible] yearlings and olds from their scarcity alone maintaining late values It is believed that the general effect upon the market of this decline will in the end prove salutary, as it will doubtless be the most effectual and direct means of checking importations thereby giving our growers who are yet holding their hops a chance to find market for them at fair remunerative prices Brewers, as a class are still complaining of dull times and slow collections. The unprecedented high price of barley and malt and the large cash capital required to handle it greatly checks brewing operations especially among the smaller class of brewers many of whom have been obliged to suspend operations owing to the high price of materials The season for stock ale brewing is now nearly closed so that the only demand for hops and malt, from this time out will be for the manufacture of present use beer The prospects are that there will be a heavy increase in the yield the coming fall judging from the great number of hop-poles which will be set this spring into yards which were planted a year ago Our opinion is that holders will do well who take advantage of the first opportunity to sell as the prospect of a large crop will tend somewhat to depress prices later on

Home Produce Market.

The export of wheat oats and flour from Oregon for the first quarter (just closed) of the current year have been 848 011 bushels wheat 242 040 sacks flour and 90 874 bushels oats The aggregate value of these products on board the ships here was about $1 00 000 including price of sacks for wheat and oats which was $42,000

WHEAT—In this cereal we notice but little change since our last weekly review though the market is rather weaker even at current rates Exporters are doing but little and millers generally are fairly supplied The transactions occurring are made at prices ranging from $1 60@1 6[illegible] per cental

FLOUR—The market is fairly supplied, though stocks are not unusually large Transactions have been light during the week, and both this commodity and the raw material are receiving less attention No important change in rates is likely to occur before harvest Quotations are now $5 ₩ bbl for extras of standard brands $5 00 for good country brands $4 50@[illegible] for superfine

OATS—Late shipments hence to San Francisco have had a depressing effect on that market, and materially lessened stocks here Receipts have also declined the past week The demand however for the local trade, continues fair at the old rates, for choice lots

BARLEY—No change is noted no shipments are made all offering, being taken for local consumption at $1 40@1 ₩ cental

FEED—The supply is liberal and sales are made with rather more difficulty We quote Bran at $13 ₩ ton Chops Middlings etc $[illegible] Shorts $[illegible] These quotations include sacks estimated at $[illegible] ₩ ton

HAY—Jobbers are paying from $12@13 for good baled Timothy and selling at $16 ₩ ton

POTATOES—The receipts are not so large and though no unusual demand exists those offering are freely taken at current rates We quote choice varieties sacked at 60 cents without sacks 50c ₩ bushel

ONIONS—We notice some inquiry for good lots at $1 [illegible] ₩ 100 lbs while inferior are dull sale

APPLES—Those reaching the market now are in many cases specked or partially decayed and but few choice lots are offering The latter sell for 75 cents ₩ box while the former range from 45@50c

BACON—There are no shipments now being made hence and some large lots have accumulated here We quote well cured and well trimmed Sides at 11 cents ₩ lb Shoulders [illegible] Hams 16c

LARD—The supply of this article in 10lb tins is full but a fair quality in kegs is in better demand as it sells 1 to 2 cents ₩ lb lower In tins we quote at 13 cents in kegs 11@12c

BUTTER—The call for choice lots is steady and fair prices for such are the rule For best dairy for table use 30 cents ₩ lb is the quotation while common lots miscellaneously packed range from [illegible]@22c

CHEESE—Oregon made is very scarce in the market the local consumption being largely of the imported product Best brands of all kinds are held by jobbers at 20@22c ₩ lb medium and inferior 15c 20 cents

DRIED FRUIT—Some large lots have come forward under the increased demand and shipments are becoming important We quote apples in sacks [illegible] in kegs [illegible] plums with pits dull at [illegible] pitless 13@14c

EGGS—The market has been in very fair supply during the week under review though no excess Stocks are at present on hand [illegible] [illegible] cents ₩ dozen

CHICKENS—Receipts are still falling off and best lots are in demand at $4 per dozen common and mixed $[illegible]

BEEF CATTLE—Some very fine lots have arrived during the week but by far the greater number received are poor for the purpose As high as [illegible] cents ₩ lb on foot has been paid but common lots range from [illegible] cents

DRESSED HOGS—The receipts are light and transactions dull at 6@7 cents ₩ lb

MUTTON SHEEP—There are but few offering and none can be bought at less than $3 [illegible] per head The demand is firm

HIDES—The receipts and shipments are light increasing and prices remain steady at 14@16 cents ₩ lb for dry [illegible] cents for green and [illegible] cents for green salted if entirely undamaged

WOOL—Quotations at present are merely nominal as only a few small lots are changing hands The range may be given at 19 [illegible] cents ₩ lb

Our quotations for grain and feed in this head always include sacks unless otherwise stated The prices at which sacks are reckoned in this market are as follows For Wheat [illegible] cents ₩ bushel Oats [illegible] cents ₩ bushel Barley [illegible] cents [illegible] Feed $[illegible] ₩ ton

[BY TELEGRAPH]

BOSTON April 1—The wool market remains unchanged All fine wools both domestic and foreign are in fair demand as manufacturers are forced to purchase more or less every week to keep their machinery running Buyers however are purchasing only for present wants as the [illegible] market is still quiet and discouraging and any line of wool that is not really wanted is dull [illegible] California and low and unsalable grades [illegible] and other wool not put up in condition [illegible] forced off at comparatively low prices Extra [illegible] extra pulled [illegible] combing delaine [illegible]

THE PEOPLE'S MOVEMENT

CAN IT SECURE $1 25 PER BUSHEL FOR WHEAT FOR THE CROP OF 1874

When wheat of the crop of 1873 was worth to the farmer $1 50 per bushel in San Francisco it was worth but $1 to the farmer of Oregon

Why is this so? Who stands in the door [illegible] that worth fifty cents per bushel or $2 a per barrel of flour to get wheat or flour to San Francisco. Is not half that price enough and good pay? Shall the farmers have the other half?

Mr Holladay who runs the railroad also runs the shipping from the Columbia to the Bar. He gathers the wheat at the upper end of the Willamette Valley carries it [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
